WIRELESS ACCESS

The Library provides free wireless unfiltered access points for public Internet access. These access points allow users to connect to the Internet from their laptop computers within range of the access points.

Wireless users must abide by the Library's Computer Use Policies and Regulations while using the Library's wireless network.

Users are responsible for configuring their own equipment. The Library does not provide technical support for establishing or maintaining a connection nor equipment configurations. The Library is not responsible for any changes made to an individual computer's settings and does not guarantee that a user's hardware will work with the Library's wireless connection.

The Library is not responsible for any personal information (e.g., credit card) that is compromised, or for any damage caused to hardware or software due to electric surges, security issues or consequences caused by viruses or hacking. All wireless-access users are individually responsible for maintaining up-to-date virus protection on personal laptop computers or wireless devices.
