Sohbat with Rumi

Join Sayed Naimi and Howard Olivier to discuss the theme of separation in Rumi's poetry. In conversations with Rumi, he complains about separation and bears his soul to us so we can see the deep longing that is tearing apart the robe of his sanity. When we are ready to give up he shows us mercy and bathes us in love. At the end, all is well as he walks us into the ocean and gently drowns us as we unite with the friend. Bring your favorite separation poem from Rumi and let us start this conversation again, from the top!

- TH, 6:30 p.m., 1/26, Main Library Marion Bingham Rm
- TH, 6:30 p.m., 2/23, Main Library Marion Bingham Rm

BoiseSpeaks Recording Session

Stories have the power to connect us all! Moving across the country, overcoming a parenting struggle, meeting the love of your life, lip-syncing oldies radio anthems in your pajamas with your best friend, whatever it might be, every story deserves to be shared. The Library! at Collister invites you to bring a friend or family member to interview you, or be interviewed by a library staff member about a story from your life. Interviews are recorded on the Storycorps app and may be shared on the storycorps.me website.

All published stories are archived in the American Folklife Center at the Library of Congress. A staff member will sit in to make sure the recording runs smoothly. Enjoy this opportunity to document your experiences for future generations! What is your story?
