Subject: Compliment

We just had two kids and two adults in for a 3D printing appointment, and one of the adults went out of her way to let us know what a great library this is. She said she’s from well outside of this area, and she’s never seen a better library. She was specifically impressed with the involvement of the community and the different varieties of people using the library as well as the technology focus of many of the library resources. In addition, she was pleased with the print resources downstairs that the kids spent their time with while their file was printing.

Yay!
